A Note from Alan Wolfelt

It was Joseph Campbell who reminded us, “We must be willing to get rid of the life we’ve planned so as to have the life that is waiting for us.” I love this powerful reflection. Why? Because as a young child and into my early teen years I wanted to be an architect. I had been drawing house plans since I was two-years-old. Then as a teenager I experienced a series of losses that forever changed my path and helped me discover my calling surrounding death education and counseling.

I’m so honored to write, teach, and counsel about death, dying, grief, and loss. Like many of you, I am humbled every day that my fellow humans are willing to share their life stories of love and loss with me. I sometimes pinch myself when I realize there is now an international network of thousands of people who have read my books and trained with me on the philosophy and practice of companioning people in grief. My hope is that this model is life-giving, hope-filled and incorporates not only the mind and the body, but the soul and the spirit.

I continue to be committed to touch lives in 2019! I’m so excited to teach my “on road” workshops and keynotes, host our trainings in Colorado and Arizona, and provide personal consultations on “complicated” grief to both counselors and lay persons in need of enhanced understanding and support. In terms of publications, you will see we have three new books coming out this year.

June 1st will see the release of my friend and colleague Dr. Ed Shaw’s resource The Dementia Care Partner’s Workbook: A Guide for Understanding, Education, and Hope. I met Dr. Shaw in the early 80s when we were both at the Mayo Clinic. He is a dually trained physician and counselor and personally walked with his precious wife though the journey of early-onset Dementia. I believe this new title will be an invaluable contribution to the literature on dementia care.

July 1 will see the release of a new book by my daughter Jaimie and I titled, Healing Your Chronic Illness Grief: 100 Practical Ideas for Living Your Best Life. What a joy it has been to work with my daughter in an effort to create a practical, compassionate resource to help the many people that face a life of living with a chronic illness. Jaimie is currently in the second year of her master’s degree in counseling at Regis University and will be carrying on the Wolfelt tradition of “helping people help others.”

I also invite you to pre-order my new book, First Aid for Broken Hearts, which will release on October 1. If you have a broken heart due to grief from a death or any other loss, or you know someone else that does, please consider making use of this resource. My hope is that this little book will be purchased in bulk for caregivers to provide to those they seek to companion.

Yes, when I was a teen I had a dream of having a healing Center where children, adults, and families could come and feel safe to mourn well so they could go on to live well and love well. I also wanted a place of hospitality where caregivers could come together and learn how to ‘companion’ not “treat” their fellow human beings. I have taken that dream, clung to it, nurtured it and never let it go. This dream that became reality ultimately transformed my life and brought me tremendous meaning and purpose. I truly believe we are all here to, in part, contribute love and care to those our lives touch — each of us in our own way. Supporting people in grief nourishes my soul. If you are a lay person in grief I encourage you to seek the support you both need and deserve. If you are a caregiver attempting to support people in grief I encourage you to come from a place of open-heartedness, compassion, and unconditional love.

Peace and Hope,

Alan D. Wolfelt

The Dementia Care Partner’s Workbook: A Guide for Understanding, Education, and Hope

The Dementia Care Partner’s Workbook is a support group manual as well as a self-study guide for care partners of a loved one with Alzheimer’s disease or another type of dementia. It provides 13 lessons for support group participants or individuals who desire independent study. Each lesson offers understanding, education, and hope covering topics that include descriptions of the different types of dementia, brain structure and function, stages of dementia, changing relationships and grief, emotional and mental health challenges. Also covered will be new ways of communicating love, attachment loss and problematic behaviors, care at home versus residential care facility placement, care partner’s wellness and self-care, existential and spiritual issues, important questions for the dementia doctor and elder law attorney, and other helpful resources for the journey.

The Dementia Care Partner’s Workbook is authored by Dr. Edward Shaw, a dually trained physician and mental health counselor who directs a large dementia caregiver support program and is an experienced support group leader. He was also care partner to his late wife Rebecca, who lost her nine year battle with Alzheimer’s disease several years ago. Additionally, Ed coauthored the book Keeping Love Alive as Memories Fade: The Five Love Languages and the Alzheimer’s Journey with Dr. Gary Chapman.

Healing Your Chronic Illness Grief

100 Practical Ideas for Living Your Best Life
by Alan D. Wolfelt, Ph.D., and Jaimie Wolfelt

Chronic illness is a type of loss. Depending on your condition and its course, you may be confronted with physical limitations, financial struggles, relationship challenges, and much more. Your hoped-for future may feel stolen from you.

In addition to good physical care, acknowledging and working through your normal, necessary grief along the way are essential to living well with chronic illness. Mourning is important self-care. The 100 tips, affirmations, and simple activities in this book will help you attune to and express your feelings each day. They will support you in living your best life physically, cognitively, emotionally, socially, and spiritually.

To mourn well is to clear the way for living well. Let’s get started.

One Mindful Day at a Time
365 Meditations for Living in the Now
For most of us, life is way too hectic. We feel scattered and distracted. We’re busy rushing from one required activity to the next, and when we have a few moments of downtime, we’re often glued to our electronics. Is this what life is really all about?

Learn to slow down and live more mindfully with this daily companion.

ISBN 978-1-61722-263-4 • 384 pages • softcover • $14.95

“When I have been excited to gift this new book to my colleagues. The interpretation of the quotes from various writers and philosophers is insightful and so pertinent to anyone who is a caregiver—which is about everyone in the world!”
— Margo J. Geppert, MD

When Grief is Complicated
A Model for Therapists to Understand, Identify, and Companion Grievers Lost in the Wilderness of Complicated Grief
After a significant loss, grief is normal and necessary. But sometimes a mourner’s grief becomes naturally heightened, stuck, or made more complex by especially difficult circumstances, such as suicide, homicide, or multiple losses within a short time period. This is called “complicated grief.”

In this primer by one of the world’s most respected grief educators, Dr. Wolfelt helps caregivers understand the various factors that often contribute to complicated grief. He presents a model for identifying complicated grief symptoms and, through real-life examples, offers guidance for companioning mourners through their challenging grief journeys. This book rounds out Dr. Wolfelt’s resources on the companioning philosophy of grief care, making it an essential addition to your professional library.

When Your Soulmate Dies
A Guide to Healing Through Heroic Mourning
You were one of the lucky ones. You found a partner or friend with whom you shared a deeply profound connection. You understood, opened fully to, served, and challenged one another. You were the heroes of each other’s lives. You lived a grand adventure together.

But now that your partner has died, what felt like luck may have turned to wretched despair. How do you go on? How do you live without your champion and other half? The answer is that you mourn as you loved: heroically, grandly, and fully.

In this compassionate guide, you’ll find empathetic affirmation and advice intermingled with real-life stories from other halved soulmates. Learn to honor your loved one and your grief even as you find a path to a renewed life of purpose and joy.

The Understanding Your Grief Series

Understanding Your Grief
Ten Essential Touchstones for Finding Hope and Healing Your Heart

This book is Dr. Wolfelt's most comprehensive, covering the essential lessons that mourners have taught him in his three decades of working with the bereaved. In compassionate, down-to-earth language, Understanding Your Grief describes ten touchstones—or trail markers—that are essential physical, emotional, cognitive, social, and spiritual signs for mourners to look for on their journey through grief.

The Ten Essential Touchstones:
1. Open to the presence of your loss.
2. Dispel misconceptions about grief.
3. Embrace the uniqueness of your grief.
5. Recognize you are not crazy.
6. Understand the six needs of mourning.
7. Nurture yourself.
8. Reach out for help.
9. Seek reconciliation, not resolution.
10. Appreciate your transformation.

Think of your grief as a wilderness—a vast, inhospitable forest. You must journey through this wilderness. To find your way out, you must become acquainted with its terrain and learn to follow the sometimes hard-to-find trail that leads to healing. In the wilderness of your grief, the touchstones are your trail markers. They are the signs that let you know you are on the right path. When you learn to identify and rely on the touchstones, you will find your way to hope and healing.

The companion journal now provides space for writing and reflection.

ISBN 978-1-879651-35-7 • 176 pages • softcover • $14.95

The Understanding Your Grief Journal
Exploring the Ten Essential Touchstones

Writing can be a very effective form of mourning, or expressing your grief outside yourself. And it is through mourning that you heal in grief.

The Understanding Your Grief Journal is a companion workbook to Dr. Wolfelt's Understanding Your Grief. Designed to help mourners explore the many facets of their unique grief through journaling, this compassionate book interfaces with the ten essential touchstones. Throughout, journalers are asked specific questions about their own unique grief journeys as they relate to the touchstones and are provided with writing space for the many questions asked.

Purchased as a set together with Understanding Your Grief, this journal is a wonderful mourning tool and safe place for those in grief. It also makes an ideal grief support group workbook.

ISBN 978-1-879651-39-5 • 150 pages • softcover • $14.95

From The Understanding Your Grief Journal

“Of all the books I’ve read since my son was killed (and there are plenty), this one would be at the top of the recommendation list for the bereaved to read. It thoroughly covers every facet of grief that one will ever experience along the journey. For once, I had my own worst time of day acknowledged and explained. In our mourning-avoiding society, this book validates and fortifies the bereaved. In addition, Dr. Wolfelt adeptly and compassionately shows the way to integrate grief into a positive transformation toward a new life of hope as our loved ones would want us to live.”

— A reader

“After almost four years on the grief path, this is by far the best book I’ve read to date. I wish I had this book and journal at the start of my journey.”

— Bill

The Understanding Your Grief Support Group Guide
Starting and Leading a Bereavement Support Group

For bereavement caregivers who want to start and run an effective grief support group for adults, this support group guide discusses the role of support groups for mourners and describes the steps involved (such as deciding on group format, publicizing the group, and writing meeting plans) in getting a group started. Responding to problems in the group is also addressed, as is a model for evaluating your group's progress.

This guide includes potential meeting plans that interface with Understanding Your Grief and the companion journal as texts for group participants. This support group guide is a must for all bereavement group leaders.

ISBN 978-1-879651-40-1 • 104 pages • softcover • $19.95

“The as a bereavement support group leader, I’ve found that the Understanding Your Grief trilogy provides me with a very user-friendly framework and helps me create a safe place for mourners to learn about and explore their grief.”

— Charles (Duke) Quarles, US Navy Chaplain

Using the metaphor of the wilderness, Dr. Wolfelt introduces ten touchstones that will assist the survivor in what is often a complicated grief journey. Learning to identify and rely on the touchstones helps those touched by suicide find their way to hope and healing.

ISBN 978-1-879651-58-6 • 228 pages • softcover • $14.95

"I must say that out of all books on surviving suicide that I have read, you have pegged just about every aspect I can think of: every stumbling block, emotion, stupid things people say or do, it's all there. It is an amazing piece of literature that even four years into the survivor realm touches home, reassures, and helps to keep perspective on the immense toll surviving a suicide places on every aspect of one's life. It is a treasure, a life vest thrown out into a violent ocean."

— Jana from Virginia

The Wilderness of Suicide Grief
Finding Your Way
This hardcover gift book is a compassionate, gentle guide to finding your way through the wilderness of grief after the suicide death of someone you love. We’re pleased to present our popular (and ever-growing) 100 Ideas Series

This series of concise, practical books on grief offers compassionate and reader-friendly guidance to mourners of all ages. One idea per page—that’s what makes these books so very useful. Some of the ideas explain the basic principles of grief and mourning. Others offer immediate, here-and-now suggestions for what to do to help yourself or someone you care about. What’s more, each audience-specific book customizes counsel based on the type of loss.

Healing the Empty Nester’s Grieving Heart
100 Practical Ideas for Parents After the Kids Move Out, Go Off to College, or Start Taking Flight

You’ve spent most of your adult life focused on the care and raising of your children...and now they’re leaving. For you and for them, this major transition is often challenging in many ways. You may feel surprised at the intensity of your grief—a confusing mixture of sadness, hope, emptiness, fear, excitement, and other emotions all at once.

This book helps parents understand their normal and necessary empty nester grief. The 100 practical tips and activities are designed to help you acknowledge and express your feelings of loss, foster love and respect, and, over time, find ways to re-instill your life with meaning. Advice is also offered for nurturing a marriage or partnership through this challenging time.

ISBN 978-1-61722-250-4 • 128 pages • softcover • $11.95

Healing Your Grieving Heart After a Military Death
100 Practical Ideas for Families and Friends by Bonnie Carroll and Alan D. Wolfelt, Ph.D.

When a loved one is killed in the line of duty, this book affirms, survivors’ grief is shaped by the unique circumstances of the death. Because military deaths are almost always sudden and violent, the traumatic nature of the loss creates a two-part grief—one focused on the manner in which the person died, the other focused on the long-term repercussions of life without this special person. This guide also acknowledges the mixture of sadness, pride, anger, and blame that often characterizes grief after a military death and offers ideas for constructively expressing thoughts and feelings. Military suicide is also addressed. Anyone whose life has been touched by a military death will find compassionate understanding and healing guidance in these pages.

ISBN 978-1-61722-223-4 • 128 pages • softcover • $11.95

Healing Your Grieving Heart After a Cancer Diagnosis
100 Practical Ideas for Coping, Surviving, and Thriving

Being diagnosed with cancer is a major blow physically, emotionally, socially, cognitively, and spiritually. All aspects of your self are under assault at the same time. And no matter the type or stage of cancer, the treatment plan, or the prognosis, your new and frightening grief can rattle you to your core. This book will help you understand and cope with your many difficult thoughts and feelings and find ways to experience peace and joy in the journey.

ISBN 978-1-61722-200-9 • 128 pages • softcover • $11.95

Healing a Friend or Loved One’s Grieving Heart After a Cancer Diagnosis
100 Practical Ideas for Providing Compassion, Comfort, and Care

Resources for and about Grieving Children and Teenagers

Finding the Words
How to Talk with Children and Teens about Death, Suicide, Homicide, Funerals, Cremation, and Other End-of-Life Matters

It’s hard to talk to kids about death, especially when someone close to them dies. What should you say? What shouldn't you say? With this compassionate book, you’ll have simple advice and suggested phrases at your fingertips when you need them. Honest but child-appropriate language is advocated, and different wording and levels of explanation are suggested for different ages.

Companioning the Grieving Child
A Soulful Guide for Caregivers

In this valuable resource, Dr. Wolfelt redefines the role of the grief counselor in this guide for caregivers to grieving children. Providing a viable alternative to the limitations of the medical establishment’s model for companioning the bereaved, Dr. Wolfelt encourages counselors and other caregivers to aspire to a more compassionate philosophy in which the child is the expert of his or her grief—not the counselor or caregiver. The approach outlined in the book argues against treating grief as an illness to be diagnosed and treated but rather for acknowledging it as an experience that forever changes a child’s worldview.

Companioning the Grieving Child Curriculum Book
Activities to Help Children and Teens Heal

by Patricia Morrissey, M.S., Ed.
Foreword by Alan D. Wolfelt, Ph.D.

Based on Dr. Wolfelt’s six needs of mourning and written to pair with Companioning the Grieving Child, this comprehensive guide provides hundreds of hands-on activities tailored for grieving children in three age groups: preschool, elementary, and teens. Through the use of readings, games, discussion questions, and arts and crafts, caregivers will help grieving young people acknowledge the reality of the death, embrace the pain of the loss, remember the person who died, develop a new self-identity, search for meaning, and accept support.

Coloring Books

How I Feel
A Coloring Book for Grieving Children

Dr. Wolfelt’s coloring book for kids ages 3-8 explores many of the feelings grieving children often experience.

The expressive, easy-to-color drawings clearly depict disbelief, fear, anger, loneliness, happiness, sadness, and other normal grief feelings. And the simple text accompanying the drawings (“Someone I love has died”; “Ever since this person died, I have felt new and scary feelings. Grown-ups call these feelings grief”; “Sometimes I feel all alone”; “Sometimes I hurt inside”) provides grieving children with words to describe their new, sometimes scary feelings.

The Healing Your Grieving Heart Journal for Teens

With a Foreword by Brian Griese

Teenagers often don’t want to talk to adults—or even to their friends—about their struggles. But given the opportunity, many grieving teens find that journaling helps them sort through their confusing thoughts and feelings.

Yet few journals created just for teens exist and even fewer address the unique needs of the grieving teen. In the Introduction, this unique journal—written by Dr. Wolfelt and his 14-year-old daughter, Megan—affirms the grieving teen’s thoughts and feelings and offers gentle, healing guidance. The six central needs of mourning are explained, as are common grief responses. Throughout, the authors provide simple, open-ended questions for the grieving teen to explore, such as:

• What do you miss most about the person who died?
• Which feelings have been most difficult for you since the death? Why?
• Is there something you wish you had said to the person who died but never did?

Designed just for grieving teens as a companion to Dr. Wolfelt’s bestselling Healing Your Grieving Heart for Teens: 100 Practical Ideas, this journal will be a comforting, affirming, and healing presence for teens in the weeks, months, and years after the death of someone loved.

Loving from the Outside In, Mourning from the Inside Out

“The capacity to love requires the necessity to mourn,” writes Dr. Wolfelt in this lovely new gift book.

“Love and grief are two sides of the same precious coin. One does not—and cannot—exist without the other. They are the yin and yang of our lives. What higher purpose is there in life but to give and receive love? Love is the essence of a life of abundance and joy. No matter what life brings our way, love is our highest goal, our most passionate quest. People sometimes say that grief is the price we pay for the joy of having loved. If we allow ourselves the grace that comes with love, we must allow ourselves the grace that is required to mourn.”

In this compassionate guide, Dr. Wolfelt explores what love and grief have in common and invites the reader to mourn well in order to go on to live and love well again.

The PTSD Solution

The Truth About Your Symptoms and How to Heal

Have you ever felt that something essential was missing from your PTSD treatment options?

If you suffer from PTSD, you know the problem is complex. But what you probably don’t know—and what the medical establishment isn’t telling you—is that post-traumatic stress is not fundamentally a medical disorder but rather a form of grief. Your body, mind, and soul experienced tremendous loss, and to fully integrate the many losses into your ongoing life, you must explore and express your necessary grief. In other words, you must mourn.

This groundbreaking book reveals a new approach to understanding PTSD and its debilitating symptoms. With compassion and insight, it affirms the nature and severity of your experience while providing you with a step-by-step plan to transcend it. Medical PTSD treatments are reviewed and included as part of the plan.

Whether your PTSD is severe or more subtle, whether your traumatic experience was recent or in the distant past, this book unlocks the secret that will finally allow you to live and love fully again.

The Depression of Grief
Coping with Your Sadness and Knowing When to Get Help
When someone you love dies, it’s normal and necessary to grieve. Grief is the thoughts and feelings you have inside you, and sadness is often the most prominent and painful emotion. In other words, it’s normal to be depressed after a loss. This compassionate guide will help you understand your natural depression, express it in ways that will help you heal, and know when you may be experiencing a more severe or clinical depression that would be eased by professional treatment. A section for caregivers that explores the new DSM-5 criteria for Major Depression is also included.

Living in the Shadow of the Ghosts of Grief
Step into the Light: Reconcile old losses and open the door to infinite joy and love
Are you depressed? Anxious? Angry? Do you have trouble with trust and intimacy? Do you feel a lack of meaning and purpose in your life? You may well be living in the shadow of the ghosts of grief.

When you suffer a loss of any kind—whether through abuse, divorce, job loss, the death of someone loved, or other transitions—you naturally grieve inside. To heal your grief, you must express it. That is, you must mourn your grief. If you don’t, you will carry your grief into the future, and it will undermine your happiness for the rest of your life.

This compassionate guide will help you learn to identify and mourn your carried grief so you can go on to live the joyful, whole life you deserve.
ISBN 978-1-879651-51-7 • 152 pages • softcover • $13.95

“So often we try to dance around our grief. This book offers the reader a safe place to do the healing work of ‘catch-up mourning,’ opening the door to a life of freedom, authenticity, and purpose.”

The Journey Through Grief
Reflections On Healing • Second Edition
This popular hardcover book makes a wonderful gift for those who grieve, helping them gently engage in the work of mourning.

Comforting and nurturing, The Journey Through Grief doses mourners with the six needs of mourning, helping them soothe themselves as they begin to heal.

This revised, second edition of The Journey Through Grief takes Dr. Wolfeid’s popular book of reflections and adds space for guided journaling, asking readers thoughtful questions about their unique mourning needs and providing room to write responses.

The Journey Through Grief is organized around the six needs that all mourners must yield to—indeed embrace—if they are to go on to find continued meaning in life and living. Following a short explanation of each mourning need is a series of brief, spiritual passages that, when read slowly and reflectively, help mourners work through their unique thoughts and feelings. The Journey Through Grief is being used by many faith communities as part of their grief support programs.
ISBN 978-1-879651-11-1 • 152 pages hardcover • $21.95

“Dr. Wolfeid reminds us that it is not only the physical and emotional but also the spiritual that needs to be explored in our journeys through grief. He breathes hope for healing into our hearts. This book is stirring and abundantly encouraging to all mourners.”

Empathy Cards

Now instead of sending sympathy cards, you can offer your empathy with these beautiful new cards written by Dr. W. Olafsdottir. Where sympathy is passive pity, empathy strives to actively engage and connect. Sympathy is “feeling for,” while empathy is “feeling with.” Thank you for joining us in our mission to refashion our culture into one of empathy rather than sympathy after a loss.

Sample messages (10 total):

FRONT: Your heart aches. Mine aches for yours.

INSIDE: I know there’s no cure for a broken heart, so all I can do is share mine with you. I care about you and want to help in any way I can.

FRONT: You are on a difficult journey. I cannot carry your load, but I can walk alongside you and hold out my hand.

INSIDE: Whenever I can be there in person, I will. In all the other moments, know that I am thinking about you and am there in spirit.

“Under Reconstruction” Pins

In days gone by, people mourning the death of someone loved wore black clothing or armbands. This signaled their grief to others and communicated their need for understanding and support. Sadly, such conventions have fallen out of style.

This pin again provides a way for you to communicate your loss.

When someone you love dies, you are torn apart. You face the painful challenge of reconstructing yourself. When others see your pin and ask, “Under Reconstruction…what does that mean?,” you will have the healing opportunity to share your story of love and loss and embrace the empathy you are offered in return.

Pins are 1.25” wide, gold nickel with black fill

Companioning the Bereaved
A Soulful Guide for Caregivers
This book presents a model for grief counseling based on Dr. Wolfelt’s “companioning” principles. For many mental healthcare providers, grief in contemporary society has been medicalized—perceived as if it were an illness that with proper diagnosis and treatment could be cured. Dr. Wolfelt explains that our modern understanding of grief all too often conveys that at bereavement’s “end” the mourner has completed a series of tasks, extinguished pain, and established new relationships. Our psychological models emphasize “recovery” or “resolution” in grief, suggesting a return to “normalcy.”
By contrast, this book advocates a model of “companioning” the bereaved, acknowledging that grief forever changes or transforms the mourner’s world view. Companioning is not about assessing, analyzing, fixing or resolving another’s grief. Instead, it is about being totally present to the mourner, even being a temporary guardian of his soul. The companioning model is grounded in a “teach me” perspective.

“Companioning is a true holistic approach that works the way we are designed to work and have relationships.”
— Mike from California

Companioning You!
A Soulful Guide to Caring for Yourself While You Care for the Dying and the Bereaved
In this essential newest addition to the Companioning Series, Dr. Wolfelt applies the principles of companioning others to the art of caring for yourself. Yes, caring for the dying and the bereaved is a rewarding ministry, but caregivers risk burn-out and putting their own needs and lives last.
This book affirms the caregiver’s right to excellent self-care and provides not only the rationale but the tips and practical suggestions you need to be your own friend and hospitable companion.
ISBN 978-1-61722-166-8 • 128 pages • hardcover • $15.95

The Handbook for Companioning the Mourner
Eleven Essential Principles
This inspiring handbook explores Dr. Wolfelt’s “companioning” model of grief care and contrasts it with the traditional “treatment” model. Concise and engaging, this is a primer designed to spread the companioning philosophy among everyone who walks alongside mourners—counselors, hospice caregivers, funeral home staff, friends, and family members.
ISBN 978-1-879651-61-6 • 117 pages • hardcover • $15.95

Companioning the Grieving Child
A Soulful Guide for Caregivers
In this valuable resource, Dr. Wolfelt redefines the role of the grief counselor in this guide for caregivers to grieving children. Providing a viable alternative to the limitations of the medical establishment’s model for companioning the bereaved, Dr. Wolfelt encourages counselors and other caregivers to aspire to a more compassionate philosophy in which the child is the expert of his or her grief—not the counselor or caregiver.
ISBN 978-1-61722-158-3 • 208 pages • hardcover • $29.95

Companioning the Grieving Child Curriculum Book
Activities to Help Children & Teens Heal
by Patricia Morrissey, M.S., Ed.
Foreword by Alan D. Wolfelt, Ph.D.
Based on Dr. Wolfelt’s six needs of mourning and written to pair with Companioning the Grieving Child, this comprehensive guide provides hundreds of hands-on activities tailored for grieving children in three age groups: preschool, elementary, and teens. Through the use of readings, games, discussion questions, and arts and crafts, caregivers will help grieving young people acknowledge the reality of the death, embrace the pain of the loss, remember the person who died, develop a new self-identity, search for meaning, and accept support.
ISBN 978-1-61722-158-9 • 208 pages • softcover • $29.95

Counseling Skills for Companionshipg the Mourner
The Fundamentals of Effective Grief Counseling
This compassionate resource outlines both the philosophy and the how-tos of fundamental helping skills of Dr. Alan Wolfelt's well-respected “companionship” model of grief care. The centerpiece of this model is that mourners are the experts of their own experiences. This belief demands caregivers who bear witness without judgement, are willing to be taught by the mourner, and gently encourage the expression of grief into authentic mourning.

This book provides principles, practical skills, and activities that will allow you to enhance your capacity to facilitate (“to make easier”) the hard work of mourning. The contents of this helpful resource are directed at people in grief care, with the goal of adding to their toolbox of helping skills, and inspiring them to be truly helpful caregivers.

The Paradoxes of Mourning
Healing Your Grief with Three Forgotten Truths
When it comes to healing after the death of someone loved, our culture has it all wrong. We’re told to be strong when what we really need is to be vulnerable. We’re told to think positive when what we really need is to experience the pain of the loss. And we’re told to seek closure when what we really need is to welcome our natural and necessary grief.

The paradoxes of mourning are three Truths that grieving people used to respect but in the last century seem to have forgotten. In fact, our thinking about loss has gotten so mixed up that the Truths can now seem backwards, or paradoxical. Yet the paradoxes are indeed true, and only by giving yourself over to their wisdom can you find your way.

1. You must say hello before you can say goodbye.
2. You must make friends with the darkness before you can enter the light.
3. You must go backward before you can go forward.

When are the Trainings Held?
Please see the opposite page for a list of courses we will be offering in 2019-2020.

Our training seminars are each four days long. You will meet other participants in the designated room at the hotel, where training begins each day at 8:00 am. Breakfast will be served from 7:00 to 8:00 am, and lunch will be from noon to 1:00 pm.

On Monday through Wednesday class will end at 3:45 pm. On Thursday the course graduation will wrap up at 12:00 pm. Many people leave for the airport at that time; therefore, lunch is not provided on Thursday. Participants who are not present at the completion of the course will not receive their course certificate. As such, we suggest a return flight out of Denver International Airport or Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport no earlier than 4:00 pm.

How Do I Register?

A Tale of Two Funerals
The Throw Rug and the Tapestry
Meet the Williams family. Grandma Williams has died, and her children call Knight & Day Funeral Home to make arrangements. Courtesy of a Twilight Zone-esque space-time anomaly, the Williams family ends up concurrently planning and holding two funerals for Grandma—one arranged by funeral director Sam Standard and the other by funeral director Grace Gatekeeper.

How will the two funerals turn out? Will the Williams family even be able to tell the difference?

Reframing PTSD as Traumatic Grief
How Caregivers Can Companion Traumatized Grievers Through Catch Up Mourning

In this guide for counselors and caregivers, Dr. Wolfelt reframes PTSD as a form of grief. Helping PTSD sufferers mourn their unacknowledged and “carried” grief over the traumatic events that caused their symptoms is the key to helping them heal. Rather than seeking to quickly treat away symptoms of PTSD, caregivers who follow Dr. Wolfelt’s “companioning” philosophy will instead see the natural and necessary PTSD symptoms as indicators that the sufferer needs additional support and encouragement to express himself. This holistic new approach acknowledges clinical PTSD treatments as part of the solution while emphasizing that authentic mourning is the primary and most essential healer.
